ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE

-1881.-

The ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE, begun in 1799, is the oldest newspaper in the State, and the only daily published in Northern Virginia. It has survived, with few exceptions, all the public presses in America which saw with it the dawn of the nineteenth century. It lives, too, not in decay, but full of life and vigor, giving all the news, telling the truth without fear, favor or affection, trenching on the privacy of no man's home, but full to the brim with all public information, and giving daily honest judgments of public men and public measures.

It furnishes the news telegrams of the New York Associated Press and of Reuter's European agency, being, with but three exceptions, the only paper between Baltimore and Richmond that is thus connected with the great fountsins of the world's news.

With the coming year all the long tried and improved methods of making a standard newspaper will be continued, with such additional facilities as past experience justifies the proprietor in believing will add to the capacity of the Gazette to serve its readers. It expects to render faithful service to the city, the state and the country by a candid criticism of men and events in the interest of the people of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

To meet all the demands upon it, the Gazette will be made a WASHINGTON and RICH. MOND NEWSPAPER, as well as an ALEX-ANDRIA JOURNAL. The Richmond and Washington news of past years has left little to improve, but yet greater effort will be made to insure absolute perfection in these departments,

The city of Alexandria will find as usual its daily history in each evening's issue, and the intelligence of that section of the Commonwealth which neture has bound to Alexandria by the curvature of its mountains or the courses of its rivers as well as that portion linked to us by the iron bands of railways, will be assiduously

The Business and Commorcial columns of the Gazette will be filled with the earliest and most exact commercial news, edited with such painstaking care as will render an error, where even slight errors are dangerous, impossible.

The Cattle Markets of all the leading points of the world whose rates affect this market will be quoted, and regular statements of the Baltimore. Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria sales of cattle will appear.

The Flour, Grain and Produce movements will be noted daily, and the sales of the Alexandria and neighboring markets given with accuracy and dispatch. The Grocery and other markets will receive constant attention, and the money or stock markets of the country epitomized for its columns, full details being given to all stocks, &c, which find investors in this section of the country.

The advertising columns of the Gazette offer inducements which experience has shown to afford greater returns for a small investment than any other which can be made.

Christians in Persia.

Special contracts will be made ith

It is not generally known to the Christian public that in Mohammedan Persia, and partic u'arly in the northers;, there is a large body of Christian people who even boast of a continu ous history which goes back, as some think to the days of the Apostles. The Persian Christiacs themselves, who are chiefly Nestorians, and who have sometimes been speken of as "Waldenses of Asia," trace their origin to the labors of the Apostle St. Thomas. Although at one time they were spread ever the greater part of Persia and had the honor of being recog nized as belonging to the national Church, they have become greatly reduced in numbers, and are gathered together for the most part in the northeast, being mes, numerous in and around Urumiyah.

The Kurdish invasion of the last named place, weich, it will be remembered, took place in November of last year, has brought a world of fresh trouble to these poor and long afflieted people. But for the presence of the British Consul, whose headquarters is Pabrecz -bus who happened at the time to be in Urum.gahit might have been infinitely worse than it proved to be with the Christian population of the town and neighborhood. As it was it was bad enough. The British Consul, Mr. Abbott, had an interview with the Kuid sh chief, and, as the result of his interession, the American missionaries who are sta toned there and the Nestorian leaders were admirted into the presince of the chief, who promised that, whatever else might be done, the lives of the Chris.ian people at least, would be spared. But twenty five Nestorian villages were consigned to the flames, and their cattle, grain and much other removable property were carried off or destroy ed. Worse, however, was to tollow. The minmph of the Kurd was brief; but they had in the hour of victory been caue, almost beyond example to the Mohammedan Persians. The men to large numbers they put to death, and the women and girls were subjected to the most brutal creatment. Sices the Persians re-Aestorians and the missionaries received at the hards of the Kurds they attributed to treachers and secret alliance. The Persian soldiers and the Mohammedans of the city have therefore, with difficulty been restrained from wresking their vengeance on the American and English nissionaries and on the Restorians generally At the date of the latest news the Christians were in a state of the greatest alarm. To their frinds in England they write: "Urge the good government of England to think of our sad state." It would be difficult by any amount of word-painting to present more forcibly the unhappy condition of these poor people than has been done by the mere simple recital of facts. the one hand they are at the mercy of the Mohammedan Persians, and on the other hand they are at the mercy of Mchammedan Turks, And what makes their situation all the more desperate is that the Persian authorities suspect

A Battle with Monkeys. A correspondent gives the following graphic count of a fight with monkeys: A vessel was PICTURES and PICTURE FRAMES from account of a fight with monkeys: A vessel was anchord off Columbo, on the southwestern side of Cylon. On Sunday the men asked permission to take the boat and go on shore, and their request was complied with, the captain sending the second mate with them "to look after things," They pulled around a little inlet below the city and lauded. For a wonder, they did not care for visiting the town, but prefer red a stroll in the woods, which upon this morning appeared to be entirely deserted. About a quarter of a mile from where they left the boat one of the party spied a very young monkey lying at the foot of a tree. This was too much of a prize for Jack to pass by. Though warned by the second mate not to disturb the infant protege of Datwie, he seiz d the little fellow and essayed to bear bim eff to triumph. Hereupon young Joeko emitted a series of yells that esused the torest in the midst of which they were wat dering to re coho for many rods around. If the sailors thought themse ves to be the only occupants of the woods they were speedily undeceived, for scarcily a moment had clapsed since the utterance of the first cry by their little prisoner before every tree swarmed with indignant members of the monkey tribe. They rao along the branches over the heads of the wanton disturbers of their peace, chattering and screaming, and only waiting an op portueity to wreak sua mary vengeance upon the k doappers. An order rom the officer to "make for the boat" was premptly obeyed. When the monkeys saw their enemy on a full retreat they formed in a solid body, and followed hurriedly in their wake. Siicks, stones and every available missile was burled furiously at the heads of the flying sailors. In vain did they drop their prize, hoping that it might pacify their euraged pursuers. It is was not so; only one dropped out of the ranks, to gather up to its has y embrace the un off nding obj co of the fray, while the others rushed ou more frantically than ever. Reaching the boat, they had not time to jump it, but shoved her off from the shore, clusing to the gunwales, and crawling in only when some distance had been placed between them and their implacable foes. When they had arrived at a sate place to lay, they rested on their oars and cariously scanned the infuriated army on the beach. There appeared to be thousands of them running up and down in wild confusion and hurling stones far out igto the water in the direction of the beat, Nor did the sailors get off "scot free," there was not one among them that had not received some injury at the hands or rather paws of this army of monkeys.
